1. Mr. Schroeder, Immigration Subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee, informs me that he has spent two weeks with Hungarian-American groups in New York City and elsewhere, and that these groups are much disturbed by the Hungarians on whom CIA relies. It is their feeling that these people are all too close to former Prime Minister Nagy and do not give enough representation to bona fide members of the small landholders' party. He also stated that the State Department's National Committee for Free Europe is loaded with former Communists working in the Library of Congress. I have informed the Director and Col. Mr. Schroeder also told me that a former [redacted] is working for us and is a former Communist. I have informed [redacted] who tells me that no one by this name is working in this Agency, and I have so informed Mr. Schroeder.
